Learning a new skill or improving on an existing skill will benefit students for years to come.

For students who are job hunting or looking for a career change adding to your skill sets will make you a more appealing candidate. For students looking to move up in their organisation improving their skills will allow them to demonstrate their value to the organisation and open new doors of opportunity.

Students will cover topics such as communication, keyboarding, Microsoft Office (including Word, Outlook, Excel and PowerPoint), working with others and managing work priorities.

For students looking for employment, or for a career change, the training will incorporate the development of tools that will assist students with their search for employment including a customised resume and an impressive portfolio of work completed throughout the program to allow students to showcase themselves to prospective employers.

ET Australia will actively search for suitable employment opportunities and will work with students during the program to link them to employment if required.

The training is delivered in a simulated work environment to prepare the students for application in the workplace.

The structure of this program provides students with a supportive learning environment and is ideal for anyone who likes a more personalised approach to training. With classroom based training, students have their classmates and the Trainer to support and help them with their various learning needs.
