

CHC33015

Certificate III in Individual Support (Ageing)

Overview

This unique program is being delivered in partnership by ET Australia with BlueWave Living. Training will be delivered on site at BlueWave Living providing hands on training in a real work environment with a view to employment.

Both organisations share a vision for the ways in which the entry level workforce needs to be prepared and trained. This has resulted in a collaborative partnership between the two organisations.

To be considered for employment, students must participate in a CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support (Ageing) training program. The training is subsidised for eligible students under the Smart and Skilled initiative. This training is subsidised by the NSW Government.

The program has been designed to meet an industry need for entry level workers in the aged care sector. There will be opportunities for employment for the right candidates with BlueWave Living on program completion to meet their current / emerging workforce needs. BlueWave Living is a not-for-profit community owned organisation offering a range of residential aged care services. They offer permanent residential care including dementia specific care and also respite accommodation.

Students will learn how to meet the personal support needs of the older person, support their independence and well-being, use safe working practices for direct care work and will learn how to work effectively in the aged care sector.

The combination of classroom based learning with on the job training in BlueWave Living provides the foundations required to work with aged people.

Throughout the program, students will complete at least 120 hours of clinical placement within BlueWave Living. Students will practice and apply their skills under the supervision of ET Australia's Trainer and BlueWave Living staff. The practical on the job component will help students to develop and consolidate skills and knowledge in a real work environment. Throughout the program students will become familiar with BlueWave Living policies and procedures and employee expectations.

Entry

There are no formal entry requirements for this qualification however all successful applicants are required to undergo a criminal history check to meet workplace regulatory requirements (the cost of this check is covered by ET Australia for students accepted into the program).

The Australian Government Department of Health and Ageing requires that any person who provides care within an aged care service must have a police check prior to being present 'on site'.

Students must not have previous convictions which would exclude them from working in the aged care sector as outlined in the Aged Care Act 1997 (murder, sexual assault, any other form of assault which has resulted in a sentence of imprisonment or any other conviction which would be considered, on the basis of risk and relevance, to render them unsuitable for a vocational placement in an aged care setting).

All applicants will be interviewed initially by phone by an ET Australia representative and successful applicants will then be invited to attend an information session. Following on from the information session applicants are required to complete an application form and will be interviewed by an ET Australia representative and a BlueWave Living representative for selection into the program.

Interviews are conducted with each applicant to determine their suitability for the program and their suitability for potential employment.

Aged care work can be emotionally and physically challenging and is very hands on. Applicants must have the functional capacity and fitness to perform the tasks and duties necessary to work in the aged care sector. Applicants who, due to fitness or functional capacity, would place themselves or others at risk of harm or injury would be unsuitable for the program.

It is recommended that students have sound computer skills (as computers will be used on occasion during the program).

Applicants are required to have sufficient language, literacy and numeracy skills and it is recommended that applicants have good communication and interpersonal skills.

All applicants must be prepared to participate in on the job training and work placement. Participation in at least 120 hours of work placement is required to successfully complete the qualification.

In order to complete the practical components of this program applicants must demonstrate a level of maturity and discretion.

Employment Opportunities

Following are examples of employment opportunities that may be available on completion of the program: -

Accommodation Support Worker, Assistant in Nursing, Care Assistant / Worker, Care Service Employee, Nursing Assistant, Personal Care Assistant, Residential Care Worker

Further Study

Students who successfully complete this qualification may choose to further their studies to a higher level in a related area such as CHC43015 Certificate IV in Ageing Support.

Students who successfully complete this qualification may also choose to further their studies at the same level and undertake units from the specialised elective unit streams available within the CHC33015 Certificate III in Individualised Support qualification eg Disability specialisation.

Students may elect to further their studies in more specialised qualifications at a higher AQF level from the Community Services Training Package.

Structure

This program will be delivered on site at BlueWave Living and it combines classroom based sessions with on the job training. On the job training is integrated throughout the duration of the program. Students are required to participate in all scheduled sessions unless arranged otherwise with an ET Australia Representative.

Students are required to complete at least 120 hours of practical placement. The practical component of the program will take place at BlueWave Living and is mandatory for successful completion of the qualification.
